

Take your career to the next level:

Tuition Benefit for BCA Members

Indiana Tech and the Building Contractors Association of Northeast Indiana are working together to make pursuing a degree easier and more affordable. Employees of BCA member organizations are eligible for a 20% corporate scholarship for undergraduate and graduate tuition.

Indiana Tech's new Construction Management concentration is part of the university's Bachelor of Science in Business Administration program. Students gain essential knowledge and skills in every stage of the construction process, providing an understanding of managing projects from concept to completion.

The new construction management program allows students to choose from an undergraduate certificate or bachelor's degree program. Core classes for both are designed to increase knowledge of current industry practices and enable graduates to manage and deliver successful projects.

Indiana Tech is proud to partner with the Building Contractors Association of Northeast Indiana.

Indiana Tech arms students with the skills and knowledge necessary to help them remain competitive in today's fast-changing landscape. Contact your personal admissions representative today to learn more about this exciting new certificate and degree program.
